DISSENT: Is It Good for the Jews?

Major Jewish Organizations Say "NO"

In the current anti-Israel environment, many Jews are confused about what is really going on in the Middle East. Our "Ask the Experts" forum gives Jews the opportunity to voice their questions and concerns about the current situation and to receive open, honest and informed answers from our team of Israel experts.

Q: Someone told me that Palestinians living in the occupied territories have been unable to vote for the past 35 years. Does this mean that Israel is not a democracy?

Experts: We promised that we would answer any question posed to us by Jews who are confused about the current Mideast crisis. The content of this question, however, makes it very clear that whoever submitted this query is not Jewish at all. Anyone who is Jewish knows that the so-called "occupied territories" have never been occupied by anyone but Jews; a real Jew would never use this term. Furthermore, real Jews know that "Palestinians" do not exist. We refuse to answer any questions from terrorist propagandists.

Q: I recently read that David Ben-Gurion was a staunch supporter of a two-state solution, and that after the Six Day War he tried to convince the Israeli government to return the captured territories. How can you explain this?

Experts: It is now clear to us that David Ben-Gurion was NOT A JEW. We understand that this may seem shocking, but after examining Ben-Gurion's record there can be no denying that he was a virulent anti-Semite. And David Ben-Gurion is not alone.

We have discovered a long list of prominent Jews, both alive and dead, whose support of Palestinian rights in Israel reveals that they are not really Jews at all. Included in this list are Jewish thinkers like Walter Benjamin and Hannah Arendt, Hadassah founder Henrietta Szold, Jewish philosopher Martin Buber, British Chief Rabbi Jonathan Sacks, Talmudist Daniel Boyarin, Jewish feminist Susannah Heschel, Former Israeli Prime Minister Yitzchak Rabin, and all the members of Jews Against the Occupation, Peace Now, Brit Tzedek v'Shalom, Rabbis for Human Rights, Yesh Gvul etc. It is amazing how deep this infiltration goes. We must do everything in our power to silence these non-Jewish Jewish leaders, and to expose them for the anti-Semitic terrorists that they are. 🙏 from the Editors...

It is with great pride that we bring you this issue of JewishSpeak, filled with all the answers you will ever need about current events in the Middle East.

Our writers and editors have worked hard to condense a very complicated debate into some one-sided, dogmatic, easy-to-follow articles that proclaim our unquestioning, unwavering support of the Israeli government.

At this critical moment in history, it is imperative that we cling to the words on these pages; we must abandon our dedication to free speech and turn away from our vibrant culture of public discourse and debate. The fate of our entire people relies on American Jews remaining silent on Israel's policies while continuing to send checks to support our Jewish homeland. We hope you enjoy the truths that you find in this issue. If you have comments about what you find here, please keep them to yourself—we will not be publishing any responses.

Hillel Horrified: Pro-Israel Indoctrination Not Fully Effective

A recent survey of Hillel staff revealed that pro-Israel programming on campus has been only 75% effective, with many Jewish students still being misled by irrelevant information about Israel.

"I'm so upset," said Hillel director Sharon Greenbaum, "I thought we were doing a good job of inoculating our students against the hateful utterances of Arabs and communists on campus. But one of my students was actually upset that 136 Palestinian children were killed by the Israeli Defense Forces last year. I had to remind her that those so-called 'kids' are really just terrorists waiting to happen."

A good effort...but not good enough.

Adam Cohen, a Hillel director from Boston, agreed. "Yesterday one of my star students actually asked me if I thought Sharon's hard-line policies were the best thing for Israel. I knew I should have put up more 'Wherever We Stand, We Stand With Israel' posters!"

Despite concerns, there are still plenty of students who can see the bigger picture. "I don't see what the fuss is about arresting Palestinian men at will without leveling any charges," said Yale sophomore Eric Rosenblum. "The U.S. is basically doing the same thing to Arab and Muslim immigrants, and that's doing an excellent job of keeping us safe while protecting our status as the greatest democracy in the world." 🖐️

New Study Shows: Palestinian Heads Just Not Shaped for Democracy

A new study measuring Palestinian heads found that their shape renders the people incapable of understanding or upholding democratic ideals.

The study has made headlines around the world because it is the first to apply objective science to the Arab-Israeli con-

Voices from Birthright: Because I Deserve It!

By Jonathan Joshua,
sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania

People had always told me that I would finally understand what it means to be Jewish when I got to Israel. Before I went on Birthright I didn't really believe them, but in Israel things just made sense. I knew I was home from the moment I arrived. For example, they were strip-searching some other people at the airport, but our group whizzed right through — because we were Jews!

The author gets as close as he can to those cool Israeli soldiers, i.e. JEWS WITH GUNS!

It's so amazing that there's a place that my family has never even lived, but where we can be citizens when Palestinians who used to live there can't! That's what it means to have a Jewish homeland.

Birthright didn't try to make the trip political or anything. It was just about showing us that Israel belongs to the Jews.

Don't get me wrong, the Arab-Israeli conflict is really complicated, but Birthright didn't try to make the trip political or anything. It was just about showing us that Israel belongs to the Jews, whether our families live in Pittsburgh, or New York, or Miami, or wherever.

I would definitely recommend Birthright to anyone, but especially anyone who is at all questioning their Jewish identity. Americans might think that Jews are kind of nerdy, but in Israel we have machine guns. Going on Birthright was the first time I really understood how much Jews kick ass. 🖐️

Calling Student Activists:

7 Ways YOU Can Save Israel

1. Label any criticism of Israeli government actions "anti-Israel" and "anti-Semitic."

2. When confronted with a Palestinian sympathizer, don't listen — stick to The Script.

3. If you're not sure how to rebut an argument, bring up the Holocaust!

4. Loud Israeli dancing. Very loud Israeli dancing.

5. Get the Muslim and Arab students' associations de-funded. Everyone knows they are nothing but breeding grounds for hate.

6. While you're at it, get the Comparative Literature department de-funded. Thinking about stories from multiple perspectives encourages terrorist thinking.

7. If all else fails, shut down the whole damn university. Critical thinking, shmittical sinking. It's nothing but anti-Semitism.

WARNING SIGNS THAT YOUR PROFESSOR MAY BE A TERRORIST:

- Reads the New York Times
- Refers to International Law
- Assigns readings by Arab authors
- Uses the word "occupation"

If this describes one of your professors, please report the threat to www.moderndaymccarthy.com immediately.

Criticizing Israel doesn't threaten Jewish survival.

Silencing does.
